had ripped the shoe from his hind foot, badly cutting the foot. Later on the same horse slipped again, causing further delay, but despite these mishaps, however, the coach continued to the Garden, but before it had arrived there the decision had been made in favor of Mr. Seelig's tour.

It was championship day at the show for the harness horses and saddlers, and, as expected, William H. Moore made a sweep of the titles in the harness division, while one of the saddle championships went to the son of the show, Miss H. D. Atterbury's Nickle Plate, and the other to Gentry's Pecos, Panama. The record for the harness division was set by Moore's Nickle Plate, which was unique in horse show history, including a class of pairs won with Patricia as a companion. This horse carried off six blues, going from novice class to open, and then topping off with a championship, making the total of seven victories.

Moore Leads All.

Outside of the championship, William H. Moore won seventeen first places, to the nine championships credited to Miss Atterbury. Charles E. Bunn, the Western exhibitor of ponies, was next on the list of winners, with eight, while J. Campbell Thompson finished up the week with five victories. Other winners of blues were W. Foster Mosely, England, four; Godfrey Preece, White Plains, three; S. E. Riddle, Glen Riddle Farms, Pennsylvania, three; Miss Mona Dunn, England, three; and E. T. Squireberry, Philadelphia, four.

After the parade of prize winners, in which the horses circled the track indiscriminately without any leader, half a dozen ponies were brought out to try for the harness championship in that order. The two Mr. Walley ponies, Flame and Cinder, stood out as the most likely contestants. Both were entered in the name of William Foster, but Flame was purchased on Friday by Alfred G. Vanderbilt. Flame was awarded the blue, with the reserve ribbon going to his stable companion, Cinder.

Robbinhood continued the victorious career of Wm. H. Moore by taking the blue in the class for harness horses over fifteen hands and three inches. Miss H. D. Atterbury's Nickle Plate, which has been the sensation of the show among the saddlers, was shown again in the class for hunters over fifteen hands two inches up to carrying 150 pounds. W. A. McGibbon put the dapple gray through his paces faultlessly, and he annexed his sixth blue by easily outclassing Miss Mona Dunn's Striker.

After the cup had been bestowed on Emile Seelig's four for the road contesting Arrowhead Inn, all the saddlers which had won first or second prizes were brought in for the supreme test and the distribution of the championship ribbons.

There were ten competitors for the middle and light weight title which had practically been awarded in advance to Miss Atterbury's Nickle Plate. The all-around excellence of William H. Moore's harness horses insured his victory in the best collection of three not under fifteen hands. Mr. Moore's Robbinhood, Lord Seelig and Lady Seelig, taking the blue with plenty to spare. J. Campbell Thompson's trio was crowded into third place by J. Sumner Draper's Killington, Nimble, Satire and Nimbus.

INTEREST GROWS
IN CELEBRATION

Many Organizations Will Be in Line for Big Wilson Jollification.

DETAILS NOW ANNOUNCED

List of Marshals, Formation of Parade and Line of March Made Public.

Every hour adds to the public interest in the State-wide Wilson celebration, which will be held in Richmond next Tuesday night in honor of the election of Woodrow Wilson and Thomas R. Marshall, under the auspices of the City Democratic Committee. Thousands of the red lights were called for yesterday at the parade headquarters, 303 East Broad Street, and additional organizations registered their names as desiring places in line.

Plenty of people will be in the city from all parts of Virginia. County and city chairmen have been invited, with presidents of Woodrow Wilson campaign clubs. Teachers and principals and school trustees and superintendents from every county and city in the State will be in Richmond to attend the educational conference which begins Wednesday, adding greatly to the crowds. Delegations will come from most of the larger places and from many smaller communities just to see the big celebration and join in the jollification.

City Schools Out.

A letter received yesterday from Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, superintendent of the public schools of Richmond, says that the city's principals and teachers will be in line, 350 strong. How Dr. Chandler will furnish this number without putting the women teachers in procession is unknown, and is for Dr. Chandler to substantiate.

Mayor Cameron thinks Petersburg will send over at least 250 people. In fact, there may be no limit to the crowd the Cockade City will furnish. The division of "citizens" mounted and otherwise, which will bring up the rear in the parade, is steadily growing. Many business houses notified headquarters yesterday that they would have their employees on hand to take part, and some of them have already secured a band.

Four bands have so far been engaged—the Blues' Band, Kessnich's Municipal Band, the Petersburg and Newport News bands—while negotiations are going on for the military band from Fort Monroe.

City Chairman Miles C. Martin will be ready with a number of speakers, some of State-wide fame, who will give short talks at the City Auditorium.

Marshals Announced.

The marshals for the parade who will assist Chief Frank Farnsworth were announced yesterday as follows: Henry M. Boykin, W. H. Adams, Senator Arthur C. Harman, Robert L. Myers, Louis Blagi, Sig. Hutzler, Barney Myers, H. M. Smith, Jr., Field Wilbur, Blanchard Forbes, Gilbert K. Pollock, Robert Brander, Morgan K. Mills, A. Beine Blair, W. L. Carnal, A. Blake, C. O.
